Consignment stock

This product management method involves us stocking your key product lines at one of our warehouses and you are charged for the stock as you use it.

You can move the goods from storage to production at any time, taking the financial stress and time out of ordering quantities that may or may not be used. We are responsible for product management and will ensure there is always an appropriate amount of stock available.

Custom labelling

We can also insert instruction sheets into your packages if required. We also offer customised labelling to meet your product and company specifications - saving you time and effort on the small things.

We can label your pre-packaged boxes with the project name, quantity, part number, barcode, and product name.

Kanban is our most popular inventory management solution.

Whether you need product to hand on your production line, or materials on a construction site, kanban system can be set up within your facility or within a shipping container.

The 2-bin system process:

- 1 Each product is assigned two bins. Order quantities and frequencies are determined during the service planning phase
- 2 After the first bin is used, it is placed in the stillage
- 3 On a scheduled day, empty bins are returned to our warehouse
- 4 The bins are scanned, and a quote is sent to you for approval
- 5 Upon approval, the bins are refilled and sent back to you
- 6 The full bin is returned behind the remaining bin

You can simplify the process even further with RFID technology. Contact your United Fasteners Sales Representative.
